

COLONEL IS READY FOR OHIO CAMPAIGN

EX-PRESIDENT PLANS TO COVER OHIO MORE THOROUGHLY THAN ANY OTHER STATE.

MAKES FIRST SPEECH

In Address at Belleaire Praises Primary System and Attacks Taft's Means of Securing Delegates.

Belleaire, Ohio, May 14.—With his speech in Belleaire this morning Colonel Roosevelt opened his campaign in Ohio. He will remain in this state until the evening of the primaries next Tuesday and will cover Ohio more thoroughly than any other state which he has visited during his flight for the nomination.

A large crowd assembled in the public square here today to listen to Col. Roosevelt's speech. The Colonel made much the same plea for support which he has presented elsewhere, saying the present fight was a "straight line" between the "plain people" and the "bosses."

During his campaign in Ohio Col. Roosevelt is scheduled to make sixty speeches. He will travel one thousand, seven hundred and forty miles.

In his speech here, Colonel Roosevelt said:

"This is the greatest campaign for principle which has been fought since the death of Abraham Lincoln. Every man is interested in this fight, whatever his party may be."

"We have fought for the presidential preference primary. Our opponents have opposed us in every way. Mr. Taft has openly expressed his disapproval of direct primaries and when our people ask that the names of the presidential candidates be put on the primary ballot the state committee under the dictation of the Taft managers refused. It could have been only for the purpose of confusing the minds of the people."

Colonel Roosevelt said the only way the people could vote for him was by studying the names on the ballot and learning what candidates for delegates were for.

"Our opponents," he continued, "preferred to take their chances with the politicians and not with the people."

Taft is encouraged.

Just Liverpool, Ohio, May 14.—Encouraged by his reception along the eastern line of Ohio yesterday, President Taft started in today on his second day of his present campaign tour of his home state.

Mr. Taft spent the night in his private car in Steubenville, but left there early today to the blowing of steam heat and factory whistles, for the north and west. He is scheduled for the day called for his speeches.

Maryland Commends Taft.

Baltimore, Md., May 14.—The platform of the republican state convention was today agreed upon at a meeting of Roosevelt and Taft leaders shortly before the convention was called to order contained the names of President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt and commended both administrations.

The platform as prepared by the committee on resolutions, was adopted without dissent and the sixteen delegates agreed upon by the harmony conference formally were elected.

COMMISSION ISSUES PAMPHLETS TO THE ASSESSORS TODAY

Instructions on Tax Collection Issued by State Tax Commission Today to Local Assessors Throughout the State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 14.—Instructions to the thousands of local assessors in the state were issued by the state tax commission today in the form of a pamphlet describing their duties and explaining what properties are exempt from taxation. It contains a full explanation of the tax laws with explanatory notes and decisions. Within the next two days over 5,000 copies will be sent to county clerks to be distributed to the various town and city assessors. Every district attorney will receive one.

In the preface, the members of the commission explain what properties are assessable and changes occurring in the tax laws since the last pamphlet was issued in 1906. Dismissing the income tax law, the commission says that this act "further extends the exemption of personal property to include personal ornaments, and jewelry, including watches, one watch, one piano, organ or other musical instrument, and all farm, orchard and garden machinery, implements and tools actually used in the operation of any farm, orchard or garden, without limitation of value. As the law now stands, therefore, all property of the character described in the words quoted is exempt from the property tax."

The commission directs the assessors to value the property of fractional orders and lodges the same as other property in the district, and adds that in case it should be claimed "that the benevolent purpose and use is primary, the owners will be in position to contest the question in court, whereas if not placed upon the assessment roll no authoritative assessment can be given."

Further discussing benevolent societies, the commission holds that property owned by Young Men's Christian associations of the Salvation army, used exclusively for the purposes of such associations, "should also be exempt from taxation if their accommodations were extended to all persons in need of them, whether able to pay or not, and the proceeds, if any, used in extending their work. It is not to be understood that all such associations are exempt from taxation, but only such as come within the principle of the foregoing decision."

The committee admonishes the assessors, before allowing any exemptions, to carefully investigate all the facts "before passing upon the claim and not allow the exemption unless all the conditions specified are found to exist."

Joint Convention TO ACT ON REFUSAL

Representatives of Miners in Three Anthracite Districts To Consider Rejected Agreement.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 14.—A joint convention representing the anthracite districts in the area today to act on the refusal to ratify the tentative agreement, by the conference committee of mine workers, which was arranged by their sub-committees and the operators. Though the sentiment of the delegates on the question of ratifying the agreement in the face of the action of the executive boards in voting it down, appears to be divided, it is believed that a majority of the delegates will vote for the ratification. If, on the other hand, the convention rejects the tentative agreement, the committee of the day will be empowered to enter into another joint conference and conclude an agreement that will be subject to ratification by a referendum vote. Whichever course is pursued it is hoped to bring about a resumption of work in the anthracite field within the next week or ten days. The strike already has been in force six weeks.

WANT DATA ON VALUE USE OF LIGHTNING RODS

State Fire Marshal T. M. Purcell Informs City Officials That Reports of Fires Should Mention Them.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 14.—State Fire Marshal T. M. Purcell has issued a circular notice to all municipal officials in the state asking the law for the reporting of that section therein which allows certain municipal officers to receive two dollars for each fire reported to the satisfaction of the state fire marshal, in addition to mileage at the rate of ten cents per mile for each mile traveled to and from the place of the fire. Delayed reports, adds Mr. Purcell, will give a false impression of losses for a given month. The fire marshal also asks that if the cause of fire by lightning, the fact that the building was not protected by lightning rods be stated, and in case it was rodless, to give the name and address of the manufacturer. It is proposed to require a strict safeguard against worthless or faulty lightning rods.

PRESIDENT FOR ARGENTINE VISITING IN BELGIUM.

Brussels, Belgium, May 14.—Dr. Roque Saurat, president of the Argentine republic, has decided to spend six months in Brussels and Paris, and will during that time undergo medical examination by a number of specialists according to the Petit Bleu today.

SENATE TO DISPOSE OF TARIFF MEASURES

Upper House is Planning to Handle All of House Bills Before End of Session.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, May 14.—All of the tariff bills that have passed the house will be disposed of by the senate before the end of this session and possibly without interference with the plans for an early adjournment, according to Senator Blinn of Indiana.

"When the agricultural bureau is disposed of we will take up the metal bill again," said Senator Simmons today, "and after a few more speeches we will fix a day for a vote. Naturally the appropriation bills are given the preference when they come up in order to give the conference committee a chance to get to work at them as soon as possible. However, it is not intended that they shall prevent consideration of the tariff measures."

The senator said the chemical bills would follow the metal bills and after that would come the wool bill. He thought the debate on the wool bill would not be so extended as that of the metal bill.

The general understanding is that progressive republicans will debate the tariff course of the senate. The democrats are expected to go on record for their own bills and then accept the progressive republican measures with such modifications as they can secure.

CALIFORNIA RESULT AT PRIMARY TODAY RESTS WITH WOMEN

Female Sex in Sunset State Given First Opportunity to Express Preference for President at Primaries.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

San Francisco, Calif., May 14.—Women of California were given their first opportunity today to express their preference for a presidential nomination. The campaign closed last night with Roosevelt and La Follette forces making a final effort to be bitterly contested. Senator La Follette added by his wife and others toured the state declaring that Colonel Roosevelt had failed to give him a "Square Deal." Taft's speakers hurled the same charge against Roosevelt.

Close at the heels of La Follette followed Governor Hiram Johnson, asserting his influence for Roosevelt, aided by former senator Beveridge of Indiana. Former representative Cole of Ohio was the only speaker imported to add the president but numerous California speakers spoke for Taft and Secretary Knox took advantage of his visit last week to deliver a speech at Los Angeles for his chief.

The Republican campaign proved to be of such interest that efforts made in behalf of the Democratic candidates did not figure conspicuously. The contest was between Champ Clark and Governor Woodrow Wilson almost exclusively over the state and national fight for the California preference was made.

NEVADA DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY.

Reno, Nev., May 14.—In the Democratic primary being held throughout Nevada today to elect delegates to the state convention at Fallon on June 3rd the rivalry is largely between the adherents of Champ Clark and Governor Woodrow Wilson. Provision has been made for an informal presentation of preference for president on the nomination of the primary ballot.

HAD TO BUY PLATE FROM STEEL TRUST

Government Has Tin Plate Jobber on Stand Who Testifies Company Prohibited Competition.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, May 14.—When the hearings in the government suit to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation were resumed today, James T. MacFarland, a tin-plate jobber of North Philadelphia, was called to give evidence in support of the contention of the government that the American Tin Plate company suppressed competition. MacFarland said he had been in the tin-plate business since 1879 and had handled many special private brands which independent companies manufactured for him. These brands he was forced to make to the American Tin Plate company in 1899 with a stipulation that he would not buy his tin-plate elsewhere. According to a letter from the tin-plate company to his firm, which the witness identified, it was the "trust's" purpose to "protect this company" in the exclusive manufacture of plate.

CHURCH HOSPITALS SHOULD ADMIT POOR

Committee at Methodist Conference Recommends More Charitable Attitude Toward Needy.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Minneapolis, Minn., May 14.—That the poor should be admitted to the church hospitals when recommended by their pastors under proper rules and regulations, not as charity, but as guests of the hospitals of the church is embodied in a report of the committee on personal economy to be made in the general conference in session here. The committee also advocates the spiritual guidance, so far as the employees of church hospitals are concerned, by the employment of a pastor and deacons to attend to this work.

It is also recommended that each conference in the United States appoint a patron of each one of the church hospitals and that no hospital hereafter be established without the approval of the conference within whose bounds it is located.

There is a great problem before the committee of the church with regard to the number of church hospitals which are said to belong to the church. The committee advocates that a column be created that shall be between the socialism on one side and sensationalism, and also that a commission be named to study the difficulty before the periodicals and perfect a plan next April which will do away with monetary loss.

THIRTEEN MINERS CRUSHED TO DEATH IN IRONWOOD MINE

Foreigners Working at Depth of Two Thousand Feet Caught in Cave-In Last Night.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Ironwood, Mich., May 14.—Thirteen men were killed in a cave-in at the Norris mine here at 11:30 o'clock last night.

While working in a pit of the mine the ground started to crumble onto them, rushing into another drift when they believed would be safe, the men were buried alive. The dead are all foreigners.

Rescue crews worked all night in an endeavor to reach the imprisoned men, but at nine o'clock this morning all hope of finding any alive was abandoned with the finding of two dead bodies.

The drift in which the men lost their lives had just been retimbered. One of the racks worked loose and the timbers gave way, releasing an avalanche of earth and ore.

The cave-in occurred two thousand feet underground. Forty men were working in that section of the mine on the twelfth level. They heard the timbers breaking in the drift above them and tried to reach places of safety. Thirteen failed and were buried in the fall.

A relief crew recovered two bodies and it is expected the others will be reached within a few hours. The mine is operated by the Oliver Iron company.

SIX MEN ALIVE?

Duluth, Minn., May 14.—The Oliver Mining company here has just (1:15 P. M.) received word from the mine at Ironwood that a pipe has been drilled into the fallen earth in the mine and that six of the imprisoned men in the mine are still alive. Every effort is being made to reach the men.

COAL MINERS MAY GO BACK TO WORK

Efforts of Peace Committee May Bring Six Weeks' Strike to an End Before Many Days.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Wilkes-Barre, May 14.—The convention of anthracite miners called to consider the proposed new wage arrangement agreed upon in New York early this morning, was in session for less than an hour this morning, and took a recess until 1:30 P. M. There appeared to be a strong feeling among the men that the convention will take such actions as will speedily end the suspension of work in force for more than six weeks.

The majority of national and district leaders are in favor of ratifying the agreement, but most of the district board members are opposed to it. National president White was chosen president of the convention. The 500 delegates gave Mr. White a warm welcome. He complimented the anthracite mine workers for the peaceful manner in which they have conducted the situation during the six weeks of idleness.

"GAG" RULE METHOD RAISES DISSENTION

Minority in House Revolts Today on "Railroading" of Clayton Anti-Injunction Bill.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—Revolt against a so-called "gag" rule which forced immediate consideration of the Clayton anti-injunction bill, marked the proceedings in the house today. Minority leader Mann, Representative Norris of Nebraska, Representative Ditzel of Pennsylvania assailed the attempt to shut off the minority from all chance of successfully opposing the measure and finally succeeded in forcing a modification, giving greater parliamentary latitude.

The Clayton bill principally would revise the laws so as to prohibit the issuance of injunctions except on notification and full investigation and less public peace was threatened and would limit to seven days the life of each injunction. Injunctions could only be renewed when cause was shown that such renewal was necessary.

CALL DARROW CASE FOR TRIAL TOMORROW

Counsel for McNamara Brothers Must Answer Charges of Bribery and Attempted Corruption.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Los Angeles, Calif., May 14.—The case of Clarence S. Darrow, former chief counsel of the McNamara brothers, and now charged with the bribery and attempted corruption of two jurors in the case of the confessed dynamiter, James H. McNamara, now serving a life term in San Quentin prison, will be called for trial tomorrow in the county court. Both the prosecution and the defense claim to be ready for the trial and it is quite likely that the latter will proceed without further delay. The trial promises to be no less a cause celebre than the McNamara case and it is quite possible that it will last a month or more. Some are even inclined to believe that it will not be concluded short of three months.

Clarence Darrow has many staunch friends and they are highly called upon to support him. Among them are J. Hiram Lewis, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate from Illinois, Lincoln Steffens, the magazine writer, and former United States Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota. Others are expected here from Chicago later on to testify to Mr. Darrow's good character and reputation.

Clarence S. Darrow is charged with the bribery and attempted corruption of Robert Dahn, a juror in the James H. McNamara case, and the bribery and corruption of George N. Lockwood, a ventriloquist, called in the same case. At the coming trial Darrow will act as his own principal attorney and will be assisted by Judge Cyrus McNitt and Earl Rogers. McNitt was identified with the McNamara defense and Rogers was counsel for Patrick Calhoun during the graft trials in San Francisco and also directed the first work of investigation of the Times dynamiting case.

The prosecution will be conducted by District Attorney John D. Frodericks, assisted by deputy district attorneys Ford and Ketch. It is believed that the state will rely to a great extent upon the testimony of Bert Franklin, a well known labor man, who was connected with the defense in the McNamara case and who is himself under indictment, charged with jury bribing. It is believed that Franklin will be the chief witness against Darrow. It is also believed that Mrs. Orlie E. McManis and Detective Guy Hildinger, both of Chicago, will be called as witnesses by the state.

The maximum penalty defined for bribery is ten years in prison. For corruptly influencing one drawn as a juror five years and a fine of $5,000 is provided by the law. Should Darrow be found guilty on all of the four counts of the charges, 30 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine might be imposed. It is not considered likely, however, that the maximum penalty would be inflicted, even if the state should succeed in clearly proving its case against Darrow. The latter denies his guilt and his friends are hopeful that he will succeed in completely clearing himself.

DIETZ MUST SERVE TERM, SAYS COURT

State Supreme Court Today Refuses to Grant Reversal of Judgment for Conviction.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., May 14.—John F. Dietz, of Cameron Dam farm, who last fall was sentenced to life imprisonment on the charge of murdering Oscar Harp, a deputy sheriff, during the siege on the Dietz homestead, a ruling of the supreme court of Wisconsin today which refused to reverse the judgment of conviction. Dietz was sentenced to life imprisonment.

In concluding the decision upon the Dietz case the supreme court says:

"As a result of the defendant's defiance of law, Oscar Harp, who was innocent of wrong, went to his death without warning. After a patient and fair trial the defendant has been found guilty of that death upon ample evidence."

"If the defendant as we may, we have no choice of course on this record. It is as true now as it was in the days of the Hebrew prophets that 'He who sows the wind must needs be content if he be compelled to reap the inevitable whirlwind.'"

"HOME RULE" HERE?

The supreme court today declared unconstitutional the law permitting cities of Wisconsin authority to legislate for all matters not prohibited by the constitution or general laws.

The law was known as the home rule measure and was favored by civic clubs of Milwaukee.

Under the court's decision the constitutional amendment is the only way by which cities may acquire home rule.

SOCIALISTS DECIDE FOR CONSERVATIVES HEADED BY BERGER

Wisconsin Congressman Leads Winning Faction in Control of Platform and Resolution Committee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, May 14.—"Progressive opportunists" and "immediate revolutionists" opposed each other at the opening of today's session of the socialists national convention. This was the division of the 200 delegates upon the election of platform and resolutions committees won by the "opportunists" or conservatives led by congressman Victor Berger of Wisconsin and Charles Edward Russell, of New York by large majorities.

Determine not to alienate trade unions affiliated with the American federation of labor by adopting a platform approving the "labor unit" scheme of the industrial workers of the world, the platform committee, the majority leaders said, would submit a plan of action reiterating the socialists "program," but ignoring the demand of the revolutionary wing for an immediate upset of the capitalistic system and taking over of the means of production by the "workers."

CERTAIN FACTS ABOUT BUYING EVERY MAN AND WOMAN SHOULD KNOW

By J. R. HAMILTON

Former Advertising Manager Wauwatawa, Wis., Philadelphia.

The American people are spending many billions of dollars every year on comparatively few necessities and luxuries.

Therefore these pertinent facts should be of interest to you.

The cost of producing an article is relatively small to that of selling it. For this reason all business concerns are constantly engaged in the effort to lower their selling cost.

Up to the present time the cheapest selling method that has been discovered is—advertising.

The reason for this is that advertising reaches the greatest number of people in the lowest cost per person. That is why all the shrewdest merchants are using this selling method. And that is also why the men who do not advertise could not exist for a year if it were not for your carelessness in buying anywhere your fancy strikes.

Every time you buy an unadvertising article, you deliberately increase the price and take that increase out of your own pocket book.

For example—it would be unwise to mention names—but there is a certain article used by nearly every family in America for which you pay from $15 to $20 more than you ought to, simply because that article is not advertised but is sold from door to door. Virtually the same article with the same standard of quality and value is also distributed through stores at a selling cost of about $5 instead of $20. Yet because of your own bad habit of not reading advertising, ninety per cent of you buy that article in the old selling way, and throw away from $10 to $15 every time you do so.

And there are a hundred glaring instances of the same kind.

Of course there are some cases where a poor article is sold on advertising alone. But such articles do not last, and the men who try this plan should be put in the insane asylum. Because there is no greater fool than the man who pays his own good money to advertise his own duplicity. His course is always quickly run, because the more he gives publicity to his lies, the sooner you catch him.

Now try, with this immense buying power you have, to concentrate your expenditures. It is not necessary for a nation to be profligate because it is rich.

If advertising is the cheapest selling method for the merchant then it is certainly the cheapest buying method for you.

I learn to read your advertising daily; to use it daily; and before you realize it, you will find that your money troubles have entirely disappeared.

RESIDENT OF CITY OVER FIFTY YEARS

Francis X. Jerg Died at Home of His Daughter in Marshfield Yesterday.

Francis X. Jerg, a resident of Janesville for over fifty years, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Peter Cohen, in Marshfield yesterday morning at eleven o'clock. Mr. Jerg had been at his daughter's home on a visit for the past three weeks and although his health had not been very good of late, his condition was not thought to be serious and his death came suddenly.

Mr. Jerg was born at Wurttemberg, Germany, Dec. 1, 1836. He grew to young manhood in his native land and in his early years he left for America to seek his fortune. In 1859 he came to Janesville and has lived here since that time. He learned the tailor's trade in Germany and continued in that business in this city. He rented the small frame building on East Milwaukee street adjoining what is now the Hotel London. Later he purchased the property and he has made his home there as well as practiced his trade during the entire residence in Janesville.

In 1862 he was married to Miss Crystal Ego at Delavan, Wis., who, with five children, survives: one daughter, Mrs. Peter Cohen of Marshfield, Wis. and four sons: J. L. A. J., and Edward T. Jerg, all of this city, and Oscar Jerg whose residence is unknown.

During his long residence in Janesville Mr. Jerg made many friends. His loss will be sincerely grieved by the members of his family to whom he was dearly beloved as husband and father.

The remains arrived in this city at noon today and were taken to the home of his son, J. J. Jerg, 435 Fourth avenue. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at ten o'clock from St. Mary's church, of which he was a member. Interment will be in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

To Give Illustrated Lecture on Evolution of the Flag at Institute
For Blind May 28.

H. W. Rood, patriotic instructor of the Grand Army, has been chosen to give the Decoration Day address at the school for the blind and will take as his subject "The Evolution of the Flag." This address will be illustrated by a number of flags and a few pictures which will be of interest to those who are not totally blind. The idea of the lecture is to deliver it just as he would before another audience as the pupils are able to get a great deal more of it than is ordinarily thought possible. The address will be given May 28 as that is the only day which Mr. Rood could be secured.

Has Its Purpose.

"A lie is doubtless a despicable thing," says the philosopher of Folly. "And yet, come to think it over, it is about the only practical substitute for truth discovered so far."

The monthly report of the Municipal Court, City Treasurer, Board of Education, and Chief of Police were accepted and placed on file.

City Attorney W. H. Dougherty, at the direction of the Council is now at work framing an ordinance providing for the sprinkling of streets with oil on the petition of property owners. Replies to requests for information as to the methods of street sprinkling, addressed to the city clerks of several cities, have been received from the city of Madison, Rockford, Kenosha and Racine.

O. S. Noremman, city clerk at Madison, writes that very little water sprinkling has been done on Madison streets since they adopted the policy of oiling streets two years ago. The expense of oiling has been paid out of the general fund without special charge to the property benefited, on the theory that the oiling, besides laying the dust preserves the streets to such an extent that it is worth all it costs as a preserver of the pavement, especially on the macadam streets of that city which are built of a very soft stone. He enclosed a form of petition formerly used for water sprinkling.

City Clerk E. A. Wettergren of Rockford, writes that the city has no ordinances with regard to sprinkling and oiling streets. This is paid for by the property owners. Oiling of the streets is done by the city and property owners pay for it at the cost of five cents per front foot for each property owner.

Kenosha, according to City Clerk George W. Harrington, has no sprinkling ordinance but advertises for bids under the state statutes.

USE INGENIOUS DEVICE TO MOVE MACHINERY.

Huge Steam Turbine and Generator of Electric Company Moved into Power House Over Scaffolding.

The problem of moving the huge new steam turbine and dynamo in the power house of the Janesville Electric Company without interfering with the operation of the plant is being solved by the erection of a heavy scaffold. The machinery will be taken from the flat cars and through the door in the side of the building over a scaffold on a level with the car floor. Then it will be raised by jacks to a higher scaffold and moved over the Corlies engine, belting, and line shaft and lowered to its place on the foundation. Some of the condensing apparatus has been put in place. Men from the Allis-Chalmers factory at West Allis are installing the new machinery.

Tom Jones, manager of fistic wonders, has a new one. This time it's a white hope.

From somewhere on the Sullivan & Connelley theatrical circuit this hope wrote Jones a letter in Los Angeles. He set down a few of his dimensions—those that have thus far been mapped—and asked Tom to please take him in hand. He was something of a fighter already, he said, but lacked polish. Jones fell for him and the hope came on to Los Angeles for an interview.

Well the hope arrived and sent out a hurry call for his new manager. When Tom came bustling in the stranger, who said his name was George Auger, reached down a friendly mitt that looked like a side of beef and groped around until he located him.

"Howdy," said Auger, politely. Tom just gasped.

"Let's get down to business," suggested the giant pleasantly.

"You'll have to get down, if you're going to talk to me," agreed Jones, "but be careful when you do. I'm down here some place, you know. You may not be able to see me, but I'm here."

"I can weigh in at 206 pounds," said Auger.

"Silly it gently, kid," breathed Tom. "What did you weight on?"

Auger has a reach of 36 inches, Jones announces. He also says it seriously—that he has made up his mind to give the big fellow a whirl at the game to find out if there's anything in him.

Tom says Ad Wolcott will be back to camp in a day or two and that he's going to give his banty champion a tryout with the lightweight title holder.

Ad probably will use a slingshot.

It's a good thing to have a doubt.

MILTON LOSES GAME TO FORT ATKINSON

High School Teams Clash in Fast Baseball Game at Milton Diamond Yesterday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, May 14.—The local high school also lost an exciting game of baseball here Monday afternoon to the Fort Atkinson team by a score of 9 to 4. Randolph started to twirl for Milton, but the wet ball affected his curves and the Fort aggregation batted his straight ones for four runs the first inning. Lampert followed him, but was also hit cruelly, so Captain Seldon went in and held down the strong batters. After the first inning Milton played as though they had been in games before, but the lead was too large to overcome while the Fort was playing a strong game.

Milton outdid their opponents, but, like their work in the opening game of the season, several players lost their heads at critical times, batting and catching the ball will not win games alone and the player who can think at all stages of the game is a more valuable asset than the heavy hitter of slow mind action. The work of the umpire was not up to the standard, and the luck was against Milton in this particular, but it was not the reason the locals lost, that is due to not playing their game.

The Fort Atkinson players showed they had a mastery of inside ballplay, and knew all the tricks of the game. The locals play a reserve game at the Fort Friday and hope to reverse the score. A rain prior to the game kept down the attendance, so that the boys lost money. The score:

WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC WILL SOON DISAPPEAR

President of World's Purity Federation Sounds Optimistic Note at Eau Claire.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Eau Claire, May 14.—With the sort of co-operation which we are getting with from the federal government, white slave or interstate traffic in prostitution will disappear inside of two years," said H. S. Standwell, president of the World's Purity Federation today on his return from a month's tour with other leading purity workers of leading cities in Canada, the east and south. Thirty leading cities were visited.

"Stanley W. Finch, chief of the bureau of investigation of white slave traffic is at the head of the work of stamping out this vile condition," said Mr. Standwell. "We asked $75,000 to fight the evil from the house committee on appropriation and have been promised it by chairman Fitzgerald. With that sum and the efficient handling of it which Mr. Finch will give white slavery will go quickly and red light districts in cities will soon become a thing of the past."

FAVOR WOODROW WILSON IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Columbia, S. C., May 14.—Whether South Carolina's eighteen delegates to the Baltimore convention shall be instructed for Woodrow Wilson or go uncommitted is believed to depend wholly upon which faction of the state organization is able to dominate the state convention which meets here tomorrow. Practically no campaign for any candidate other than Wilson has been made in this state. The faction led by Governor Blease, who is a candidate for another term, favors an uncommitted delegation. The rival faction, under the leadership of Judge Ira B. Jones, who aspires to succeed Blease in the governorship, will fight hard in the convention for Wilson, in instructions.

THE SIX YEAR TERM.

"The President of the United States should have a term of not less than six years, and no second term. In that event the nation would in the future be spared the humiliation of a President and an ex-President stamping the country as candidates and, as a natural sequence, abusing each other. Four years is adverse to efficiency because a large portion of the term is occupied in satisfying the importunities of office-seekers, who always follow with a rush on the beginning of a new administration. By giving the President a longer term we should enable him to carry out policies with steadier continuity, we should diminish political turmoil, and public opinion could enforce its will quite as promptly as ever through congress itself. We should lose nothing politically by a six-year term, and would gain a great deal commensurately by such a change."

This is the opinion of Henry Glows, the old New York banker and financier. It is shared by many people throughout the country, and if the question could be submitted to popular vote there would be no doubt about the outcome. Between our state and congressional elections, which occur every two years, and our national squabbles, every four years, the country is absorbed with politics, and all other interests suffer.

If the President was elected for six years, and it was understood that there could be no second term, it would have a wonderful effect on business and would prove a wholesome curb to political ambition. Disgraceful campaigns, like the one now being conducted, would be no possible, and monarchial ambition would not develop.

No government can have a well-defined policy, whose prospective changes of administration are so frequent. Capital, suffers, and becomes timid because of uncertainty, and as a result the labor market is constantly disturbed through enforced idleness. Much can be said in favor of the six year term, and no valid arguments are offered against it.

UNFORTUNATE ALASKA.

The Territory of Alaska has been at a standstill for two years, and its undeveloped resources are likely to remain dormant until the United States government comes to its senses and gives capital a chance. The conservation of national resources, discussed so stily during the last two administrations, has been the stumbling block, and many people have been led to believe that the people of Alaska were a lot of cutthroats ready to steal everything in sight, including the resources of the public domain.

The Secretary of the Interior recently visited Alaska and was presented with a memorial by the citizens of Valdez in part as follows:

"Primarily, Alaskan demands and needs the same right of untrammeled development that has been accorded to every other territory of the United States pioneered by Americans. Alaskans ask that American citizens and all other industrious men be permitted to create property for themselves out of the limitless resources of this vast territory unhampered by bureaucratic dictation and interference. The people of Alaska are a unit in opposition to federal landlordism over its mines, forests and water power.

"The doctrine that the federal government owns five thousand miles away knows better what is good for Alaska than the pioneers who have spent years within its boundaries in a political heresy that cannot long stand before the enlightened sense of justice which characterizes the American people. If left to herself Alaska would enact laws for her government and development with the same intelligence and regard for natural right that was shown by the early immigrants into the Pacific and mountain states, of whom Justice Field said in a judicial opinion:

"Wherever they went they carried with them that love of order and system and of fair dealing which are the prominent characteristics of our people."

"And the senator who introduced the first mining law into congress in 1880, which was merely a federal recognition of miner's law, said that the miner had given the honest toll of his life to discover wealth, which when found was protected by no higher law than that enacted by himself, under the implied sanction of a just and generous government.

"This just and generous government has been succeeded by one that seeks to create a distant landlordism over Alaska. This policy, if continued, will forever stunt the development of the territory. Men born under republican institutions will not long remain where they have to get permission of a government agent to transact business. The garroting of Alaska by the last two national administrations has stopped its growth, decreased its population and financially ruined many men who had not anticipated that the great national government would make Alaska the dumping ground of eastern political fraud."

This memorial is inspired by the spirit of rank injustice so keenly felt by a people who are suffering with no hope of relief. The politicians who favor government ownership in Alaska have thus far succeeded in retarding progress, and the territory, rich in minerals, coal, and natural resources, is likely to suffer for time to come.

The people want a railroad and are ready to build it, but the investment will not be made until title can be secured to mineral and coal fields along the line. The territory has an abundance of fuel, easy of access, but is obliged to ship it in, thousands of miles, because not permitted to mine it.

The development of this country is due to private capital and private enterprise. Had the people been obliged to wait for government action the trunk lines which span the continent would not have been built, and the old-fashioned stage coach would still be in evidence.

It requires more than money to build railroads across the deserts and over the mountains, and capital alone never harnesses the stream, or uncovers the treasures hid away in the crevices. Back of the money is the sublime faith of men who discern in the dim future, great possibilities. Many of these pioneer heroes die before their hopes are realized, but the work goes on, and humanity enjoys the fruits of sacrifice, with but little sense of appreciation.

When the work is completed, and the waste places blossom, under the inspiring march of civilization, some modern reformer discovers that the people have been defrauded, and "the conservation of natural resources" blinds the vision. It is a snare and delusion. If Alaska waits for government development, it will wait a long time, and wait in vain. Government ownership is the entering wedge of socialism and while the drift in that direction is popular, it will be checked in time to prevent disaster.

The will of the late John Jacob Astor, which left to his son, a minor, the bulk of his fortune of $100,000,000, has revived the old question of concentrated wealth in the hands of a few, and its attendant dangers. The Astor millions is largely invested in New York City real estate, and the large accumulation is due to fortunate investment and rapid rise in value. No way has yet been discovered to distribute this kind of wealth except through taxation, and that in proving fairly effective in these days of reform.

A large paper manufacturer from the Adirondacks called on the New York banks the other day, and found their surfeited with money. They were anxious to loan him twice the amount he needed. He said that any industry deservng of credit found no trouble in securing accommodations. While it is gratifying to know that there is an abundance of capital seeking investment, these conditions do not argue well for the prosperity of the country. Idle money means idle factories and lack of employment, and this means hard times for the masses.

Mr. Barber's plain statement of facts concerning the state university, published in last evening's Gazette, should make the taxpayers sit up and take notice. Ex-Governor Hoar resigned from the Board of Regents because of political corruption and wasteful extravagance. There is no reason why the state should educate non-residents at a fraction of what it costs. This is a minor evil compared with many others which can only be remedied by a change of administration.

Crop reports from all parts of the country indicate that the season is very backward and all sorts of dire predictions are recorded. Nature usually finds a way to retrieve lost time, and she seldom fails to make good. The chances are that an average harvest will be realized, in spite of a tardy spring.

The senate judiciary committee will report favorably on a bill which provides for a six year single term for the President. Congress should endorse the measure without delay, for it means a much needed reform.

"Let no guilty man escape," is the order from headquarters. If you have a business or a farm you must have some kind of an income and the state needs the "mon." What inquisitive people these busy reformers are.

President Taft is fighting his own battle in his home state and is confident of success. Should Roosevelt beat him in Ohio, the outlook for his nomination will not be very promising.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

MISS BROWN'S AD.

Margaret Brown, a Chicago stenographer, wanted a position. Also there were other stenographers in Chicago who wanted positions. Miss Brown's friends suggested advertising.

Miss Brown looked over the long columns of "Situations Wanted" in the newspapers for suggestions. She read many advertisements like the following:

Situation Wanted.—Young girl of twenty-three, five years' experience, desires position as stenographer; trustworthy and rapid; references exchanged. Box X. Y. Z.

Miss Brown shook her head. "To go into the newspapers like that was like going into a lottery. There were so many advertisers, all of them doubtless as capable as she. How could she catch the eye and arrest the attention of the manager looking for help?

Miss Brown wrinkled her forehead, tried a few times and produced the following:

Situation Wanted.—A brown haired girl of the name of Brown would like a position as stenographer with a firm named Brown, although others would be considered. Address X G 7.

Rather unique, to be sure. And the result?

A great bunch of letters came to the newspaper office in answer to the advertisement of X G 7. From these the girl selected the most promising and called. The same day she was engaged.

The day following showed Miss Brown was at her desk taking dictation.

And the other girls still advertised. The teaching of the little story from real life is plain. Ours is an era of advertising. The nearest, quickest road to publicity is by the way of the newspaper office. Nowadays the business world does not hang out a sign "Stenographer Wanted." It goes to the wanted column.

But—In advertising originality counts largely. The thing is in the way you put it. Whoever devises a new method of publicity, a new style of advertising, other things being equal, best secures the attention of the public.

Miss Brown got the idea. Her ad. was different.

And the retelling of her experience, if it shall lead some bright boy or girl to thinking along the lines of modern advertising, will have accomplished its purpose.

Has Done Away with Starch. A mother has discovered that the baby often cries because it is worried with the bit of lace about the neck of its little dress. The delicate skin of the baby was almost tortured before she discovered that it was the prickly lace that made the trouble. For the baby's home dresses she has now only bring stitching around the neck and sees in it that not a drop of starch is put in the little garment.

Cracks in Mahogany. To remove cracks in mahogany the following process is recommended: A concentrated solution of gum arabic and English red, both thoroughly mixed, is pressed into the cracks with a spatula; a slight addition of dragon's blood dissolved in alcohol imparts to the polish of the mahogany a brilliant, beautiful tone.

Family Telephone Signals.

In a busy family where there are numerous telephone calls a simple device has saved steps and calling. The telephone is between dining room and kitchen, where the one could answer it easily. Beside it is a button controlling a small bell in the upstairs hall. Each member of the family has his or her particular number, as 1-2, 1-3, 1-4, etc., which the maid rings whenever a message comes. If there is no response she knows the person called for is not at home.

Our Ads:

The good people of our town know that if humor brilliancy were sought for in the Big Store's News, such search would prove chilly and disappointing. The fact is, there is only one excuse for "rushing into print" at all, and that is to tell the public facts about our store's "doings" and about the new things that came, the special priceings and other items that some portion of the community is sure to be interested in. Facts—just plain, pointed facts. That being so we never write "bargain" or "special" unless the fact is back of our representation.

HORSE THIEF GIVEN STATE PRISON TERM

Frank Schmidt Pleads Guilty to Stealing Goodman Horse and Gets Eighteen Months.

Frank Schmidt, who with Charles Baker was arrested at Hollet on May 6, charged with the theft of a horse and carriage from the home of Michael Goodman of this city, was sentenced by Judge Field to eighteen months imprisonment in the state's prison this morning on his entering a plea of guilty. Baker was dismissed on the motion of District Attorney Dunwiddie, who asserted that from his conversation with Mr. O. D. Wheeler, to whom the stolen horse was sold, he was not able to find that Baker had any active part in the deal such as would make him guilty of an offense. This testimony was affirmed by Schmidt, when questioned by the Judge before sentence was passed upon him.

Attorney J. L. Fisher, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that leniency be shown his client and that he be given the minimum sentence of one year. The defendant, he said, was but twenty-two years old and this was the first time he had ever been convicted of a state's prison offense. His only previous conviction was on the charge of drunkenness for which he had served a twenty-day sentence three years ago. He had been away from home eight years and for the most part had been an industrious, if not a sober man. The theft had been committed, the suggestion not coming into his mind until they arrived at the drinking fountain in Hollet and entered into conversation with an admirer of the horse. Both of the boys were drunk and had been in that condition on the day before also.

Judge Field, in passing sentence, said he hoped that the penalty would teach him to leave liquor alone and acquire sober and steady habits. If his behavior was good he would be released on parole at the expiration of half his term. Baker was also warned to change his ways and told that he had a narrow escape from heavy penalty.

The horse stolen from the Goodman livery was valued at $200, the buggy at $65 and the harness at $10, and was recovered from the men to whom it had been traded.

A NEW ORGANIZATION FOR JANESVILLE

Loyal Order of Moose Organizes a Band.

The Loyal Order of Moose of Janesville has just organized a band composed of some of Janesville's leading musicians.

Practice is held each week under the direction of a competent leader and the membership is rendering some fine selections.

A city of Janesville can easily support two bands and it is hoped our citizens will give this new enterprise all the aid in their power.

The Order of Moose is to hold a public dance Thursday evening, May 16th in Assembly hall, and a canvass of the city is being made for the sale of tickets.

The proceeds of this dance will be used for the purchase of uniforms for the band.

The ticket sellers are meeting with good success in their canvass and it is hoped everyone approached will aid the movement by purchasing tickets.

The price of these tickets has been placed at 75 cents, an amount which is within the reach of all. It is hoped there will be a large attendance at this dance.

PROBLEM OF RURAL SCHOOLS OUTLINED

Investigation Committee Makes Report on Conditions of Wisconsin Rural Schools.

(Special to the Gazette.) Madison, Wis., May 14.—If the rural schools of Wisconsin are to keep progress with other lines of thought and development, three things must be done immediately, according to the report of the committee of fifteen which has been studying this subject the past two years. Secretary W. L. Larson announced the findings of the committee in a preliminary statement today, summarized as follows:

Country schools must have better trained teachers, with sufficient salary to keep them in the work. Consolidation of rural schools should be brought about wherever feasible, and the work of the country school should be extended so that the child can get an education adapted to its needs.

Local center work should be encouraged in country districts; meetings should be held to discuss rural problems and thus build up an intelligent sentiment in every community.

Important information bearing upon the rural school problem was brought to the committee's meetings here last Friday and Saturday by S. H. Lindholm, who has been investigating it under the direction of the state board of public affairs. Mr. Lindholm finds that the country child leaves school very early, and as a result the community is seriously handicapped by lack of sufficiently trained citizens. He declared that the country communities are at a disadvantage in their competitions with the cities.

"The social center movement has made greater progress in Wisconsin than most people suppose," said Secretary Larson. "School contests, school clubs, and school programs of various kinds bring people together. In some sections of the state farmers' clubs are doing excellent work."

"Communities vary greatly in regard to the efficiency of the schools they maintain. Reports were made of schools that are a disgrace to the state. On the other hand, in some localities the schools are excellent. As a rule the best schools are to be found where the teachers have had special preparation for their work. The country communities are in need of secondary education especially adapted to their needs. The country high school will become an essential factor in rural development."

SOCIALISTS EXPECT TO CARRY TWO STATES IN NEXT ELECTION; DEBS OUT OF PRESIDENTIAL RACE, BUT OTHERS SEEK THE HONOR

At the left, William D. Haywood; center, Eugene V. Debs; right, Job Harriman. What will the Socialists do in the campaign of 1912? Who will they nominate for the Presidency? And what are their chances of success? These are some of the questions that politicians are asking for the socialists are getting to be a factor in politics. Eugene V. Debs, who has run for the presidency three times, running, says he will be out of the race this year. Among the most likely "possibilities" are Job Harriman, socialist candidate for mayor of Los Angeles in 1911; William D. Haywood, Denver, former secretary west-socialist federation of miners; Charles Edward Russell, the editor, and Emil Seldel, former mayor of Milwaukee. The socialists expect to carry Oklahoma and Nevada this year, but their chances of doing so are very meager.

DETERMINE AID FOR WISCONSIN SCHOOLS

Amounts Which Schools Giving Agricultural Courses Will Get, to be Appointed.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., May 14.—Within the next two or three weeks the one hundred and twenty schools which have been giving instruction in agriculture in Wisconsin during the past year will be told whether the work they have accomplished entitles them to state aid. A law was passed at the last session of the legislature permitting the state to allow aid to high schools that have a regular four-year course in agriculture under the approval of the state superintendent's office. Approximately eighteen high schools have answered to give instructions along this line and have recently been inspected by the superintendent's staff. If qualified, each high school is allowed $250, and if instruction is given in at least three grades below the high school, an additional $100 will be allowed.

Report blanks were mailed today to the schools which might be considered in these classes. If their answers indicate that they are entitled to aid, and the report of the inspector approves, the aid will be apportioned to them out of the general funds of the state next August. Coming under this law are approximately fifty-four manual training schools, fifty schools in which domestic science is taught, and eighteen high schools that have four-year courses in agriculture.

"As a result of this law, unusual interest is being taken by the high schools in the teaching of agriculture," said Assistant State Superintendent J. B. Borden today. "It is now mandatory to teach agricultural subjects in the country schools, but in order to encourage the pupils in the high school to become more deeply interested in things on the farm, this law was passed. The impulse has been good, and the result will be wholesome."

COULD NOT SLEEP WITH ITCHING RASH

All Over Baby's Body, Head and Face. Scratching Made Sores. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Have Had No Further Trouble.

"On July 27, 1900, we left Boston for a trip to England and Ireland, taking baby with us. After being in Ireland a few days with us, baby's rash came out all over his body. We took him to a doctor who said it was chicken pox, and gave us medicine for him. The rash started in the form of a rash and was all over baby's body, head and face, at different times. It itched, and he would scratch it with his hands. The consequence was it developed into sores, and we were afraid it would leave nasty scars on his face. When we reached England we took baby to another doctor, who said his condition was due to change of food and climate, and gave more medicine. The rash got no better, and it used to itch and burn at night so bad that the child could not sleep. It was completely covered with it at different times. It was at this time that my mother advised us to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for about nine months the places disappeared. There are not any scars or other kind of disfigurement, and baby is completely cured. We have had no further trouble with baby's skin. Nothing stopped the itching, and allowed baby to sleep but Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 145, Boston, for free sample of each with 25c. book on the skin."

Cross or Feverish Half-Sick Children

IF TONGUE IS COATED, BREATH BAD, STOMACH SOUR IT MEANS A TRIP TO THE DOCTOR AND CLOGGED BOWELS.

Mother! Don't scold your cross, feverish child! Look at the tongue! See if it is white, yellow and coated! If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad; has stomach ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, is full of cold, it means the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels are filled with poisons and foul, constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of the little waste clogged bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly. With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of laxative figs, senna and aromatic it cannot be harmful, besides its delectable taste. Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package. Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

SUFFRAGE SPEAKERS TO MAKE AUTO TOUR

Miss Harriet Grimm to Give Addresses at Smaller Towns in Rock County Early in July. An automobile campaign tour with Miss Harriet Grimm as speaker is the means to be employed by the Rock County Political Equality League in carrying its propaganda for women's suffrage into the smaller towns and isolated hamlets of the county. The tour will be made early in July. Miss Grimm gave two addresses in this city about a month ago and made such a favorable impression that the League was anxious to secure her services again.

Mrs. A. P. Lovejoy, president of the League, read a number of excerpts from the "Suffrage News," and the outline of a suffrage play, "How the Vote Was Won."

An enrollment of seventy-five members in the league was reported by Miss Julia Lovejoy, secretary. Most of these are in Janesville. The districting of the city for campaign purposes has been arranged and a good beginning made in the distribution of literature and membership blanks. The work in the outlying towns has just begun. THE LAUNDRY.

(By Howard L. Rahn.) THIS laundry is a carnivorous institution, whose mission is to breathe new life and hope into the bulled shirt. It is a place where people send things which nobody else can wash without using an emery wheel. The laundryman is a gloomy person who lives on bar soap and deferred dividends and becomes very expert in the reading of a necktie shirt monogram.

On Monday the laundry does a large business, whichapers off during the week until by Saturday night there is nothing to have an orgy with except the pay roll. In our early history as a people there was no laundry work done except to drill a little XXX starch into father's Sunday shirt. After this article was worn once it was laid away where the profile moth could not reach upon its bosom, and sometimes it would go through a long, cold winter without being dragged out to divine worship. As men became more particular, however, and demanded a change of shirt once a week, the laundry sprang up and entered upon its career of crime. It is a very poor day in a laundry when it cannot steal a few buttons off a new shirtwaist or sprinkle the American home with ripsaw wing collars. Many a man with a No. 13 neck line looked into his laundry bag on Sunday morning, only to be greeted by a collection of collars evidently intended for somebody with a larynx galore. When one thinks of the hemstitched tablecloths, that have come home from the laundry bright with duotone bluing, and bearing the burnt-wood imprint of the electric ironer, he may well cry out, "O death, where is thy sting?" The most murderous piece of furniture in the modern laundry is the near-sighted operator who files teeth into shirt-linings so that when caught by his hand either with without endangering his singular vocation. This practice is driven a great many of our leading citizens to the society of the decollete flannel shirt, one of the most humane articles of dress ever introduced to the male trousseau.

GIVEN SEVERE SHAKING WHEN PLOW STRUCK STONE.

Harry Busch Met With a Bad Accident at Home Near Footville Last Friday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] WEST CENTER, May 14.—What might have been another serious accident was narrowly averted. While plowing Friday afternoon, Harry Busch struck a stone with his plow with such force that it threw him into the air and landing him on the seat, breaking it off and throwing him onto the stone. His cries for help were heard by a neighbor, but thinking he was calling to his father to bring something from the house he paid no further attention to him.

He was noticed by his mother when she went to the mill box and she tried to help him up but could not. Mr. Busch had to get a horse and buggy and take him home. He had presence of mind enough to hold onto the lines to keep his team, which were young mules from getting away. He was able to drive to Footville that afternoon, where upon examination by Dr. Harvey, it was found that no bones were broken and aside from a severe shaking up and several bruises no injuries were sustained.

The many friends of Jas. Adoe will be pleased to learn that he is getting along nicely. He feels as though he would like to get up, but is still confined to his bed by the orders of the nurse and physicians. Justin of Brooklyn, is doing the work at home.

Both Ideal and Practical.

To keep one's heart open to Heaven and one's mind open to the earth leads to the ideal and practical life. Be heavenly wise and earthly wise.

The Peevish Child Needs a Laxative

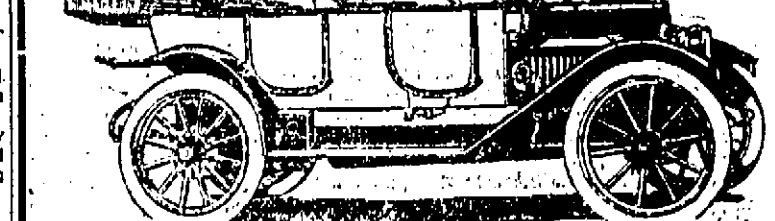

It is natural for a child to laugh and play and when it sulkis drowsily or cries you may depend on it something physical is the matter. If you see no evidences of a serious ailment you will not be wrong if you quietly give it a dose of mild laxative that evening on putting it to bed.

The remedy most generally recommended for this purpose is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which mothers throughout the country have been giving their children for a quarter of a century. Today thousands of families are using it where hundreds used it then, and there must be good reason for this word of mouth recommendation.

It is admittedly the perfect laxative for children, women, old people and all others who need a gentle bowel stimulant and not a violent salt, cathartic pill or doctored water. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will act gently, and when taken before retiring will bring complete satisfaction in the morning. After a short use of this remedy all forms of outside aid can be dispensed with and nature will again act alone.

All classes of good American people keep it in the home for ill of the stomach, liver and bowels, and among the thousands who have written the doctor that they will never be without it are Mrs. J. H. Whiting, Leont, Wis., and Mrs. M. Johnson, 722 Bay-ton St., Kenosha, Wis. A dose of it has saved many a person from a serious illness.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 406 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

MORGAN ROBERTSON.

Interesting Career of the Author of "The Wreck of the Titan."

Morgan Robertson, the novelist who fourteen years ago wrote the prophetic romance "The Wreck of the Titan" and is, besides, the author of a long series of popular sea stories, is a thoroughgoing sailor and has acquired his "local color" in most of the seven seas. He is the son of an old time shipper of the great lakes, and his inherited love of ships took him at the age of sixteen aboard the Boston ship Ringdancer on a voyage to Shanghai. He remained with her until he reached Liverpool, where he shipped on another boat for New York. After that he sailed the lakes for a season and for the next seven or eight years varied his sailing experience between fresh and salt water cruises. Mr. Robertson gives a suggestion of the hard knocks received in his sailor days in some remarks of his about discipline.

"I served a long time before the mast," he says, "and during that service got kicked and cuffed into me such deep respect for authority that I can never meet a big brute of a second mate to this day—never meet anything that is labeled ship's officer—but I want to say to him 'Aye, sir,' and stand around for him. I got to be a mate myself, but the habit had got ground into me long before that, and it sticks. And I was not naturally too respectful of authority either. Even now, after twenty years away from the sea, as soon as I step on a ship I feel abject. I cringe before anybody with the role of command."

But Mr. Robertson's experiences include many more than those of the sailor's life. He left the sea and learned the trade of watchmaking and, having become expert in that branch of the jeweler's calling, developed into a successful diamond setter. It was during his later years in the jewelry business that he turned his attention to magazine writing, and in a few years he had made a reputation as one of the best writers of sea stories.

Among his best known works are "A Tale of a Halo," "Spain Yarn," "Masters of Men," "Shipmates," "Down to the Sea" and "Sins of the Fathers." Like Jules Verne and H. G. Wells, Robertson has the knack of making his tales of adventure so real and circumstantial that his readers are prepared to learn that some of his imaginings have "come true." The remarkable fulfillment of his forecast of a great sea tragedy had a less conspicuous parallel in his engagement by a submarine boat company to develop the ideas set forth in one of his stories, "The Submarine Destroyer."

Mr. Robertson has given his notion of story writing as a sort of self-hypnotism. "You've got to get hypnotized by your idea," he says, "before you can get enough above yourself to write anything at all worth printing, and there's always the danger of that sort of thing going too far—going so far you can't get back." So he thinks Joseph Conrad writes his sea stories and Kipling and others dream stories that none of them could do if wide awake. "They are hypnotized by the men and women who are suffering the reality, though they may not know at all who these men and women are. So Victor Hugo got the stuff for his tales of horror, and so do all who do any creative work get their stuff, or some of it. And each and every one risks losing his individuality in the process. Ordinary mechanical brain work, adding up figures or composing English, does the brain, to be sure, but does not hypnotize it as creative work does—does not unpeel it, as it were, from your own identity."

A Nation's Greatness. The eminence, the nobleness of a people, depends on its capability of being stirred by memories, and of striving for what we call spiritual ends—ends which cannot but in immediate material possession, but in the satisfaction of a great feeling that animates the collective body as with one soul.—George Elliot.

Pride Sets the Pace. We are a great people because we make such a hullabaloo about the things to do; because we accomplish them to the music of the band. Our pride has set the pace, and it's our pride that keeps us up till we drop.

W. H. Whentley, 4825 Wabash Ave., Ottumwa, Iowa, had a bad attack of kidney trouble that developed into rheumatism and intense suffering resulted. He says: "I heard of Foley's Kidney Pills and took them, and began to improve promptly. Now I am entirely cured and have no more rheumatism, thanks to Foley Kidney Pills." Badger Drug Co.

THE THEATERS

MONTE CARLO GIRLS.

The Monte Carlo Girls company, that sterling organization headed by those popular comedians Welsh and Fields, and Arthur Lanning, and Hopper and Revel, are billed to appear at the Myers Theater Thursday, May 16, and to merely say a fine performance is assured would be putting it lightly. The show is entirely new this season and a novel opening has been cleverly arranged to introduce the comedians and dancers that make things lively throughout the performance. Quick action is the rule from the rise of the first curtain till the last, and there is something doing every minute it would be trying to keep one to keep from laughing even for a minute while the comedians and girls have the house in an uproar. There is a swing and dash to the performance that accounts for the success of the attraction which is playing to crowded houses everywhere, and deservingly so.

"LADIES BE SEATED."

One of the really laughable and at the same time distinctly musical hits of the operatic carnival which will be given by the Rockford Mendelssohn club, in its building in Rockford, on the evenings of May 15, 16 and 17, and in the afternoon of May 18, will be feminine minstrelsy. This will be a gay lark for trained voices and nimble wits. It will be like the "40, count 'em 40" minstrel shows of the older times, yet it will be up to the very last second in every way. There will be light and frolic, a bevy of soloists, a congress of stunts and dances and a bunch of jokes, fresh from the vintage of 1912. The great operatic club has its so-called heavy parts. There will be very pretentious songs and chorals numbers and a presentation of the comic opera. Yet the lighter side will have its lining, as is evidenced by the feminine minstrel and their superb contributions to the merriment of the performances.

It is understood the attendance from neighboring cities is to be very large. Railroad and interurban arrangements have been made to carry a host of amusement lovers to Rockford. The price for these evenings is only fifty cents and the popular matinee price is twenty-five cents. Over two hundred men, women and children will participate. Janesville people may now secure tickets for the carnival at W. T. Shore's drug store for a limited time.

Miss J. Good.

Miss J. Good, daughter of the clerk of the court at Hillsville, whose heroism saved the life of her father at the time of the shooting by the Allen outlaws, is one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution at the trial which is being held in the Wythe County Court House, at Wytheville, Va.

Cheap Filter.

The most impure water may be purified by filtering through charcoal. Take a large flower pot, put a piece of sponge or clean moss over the hole in the bottom and fill three quarters full of equal parts of clean sand and charcoal; over this lay a linen cloth large enough to hang over the sides of the pot. Pour the water into the cloth and it will come out pure.—Dollueator.

Marvelous Resistance of Water. If it were possible to impart to a sheet of water an inch in thickness sufficient velocity, the most powerful bomb-shells would be immediately stopped in their flight when they came into contact with it; it would offer the same resistance as the steel armor of the most modern battle ship.—Strand Magazine.

GREATEST MEDICINE ON EARTH

A prominent citizen of Evansville, Ind., writes: "I was ill for five months with a pulmonary trouble, and had the best of doctors. I had hemorrhages and was in a very bad way. Through the advice of a friend I tried Vinol, and I feel that it saved my life. It is all you recommend it to be. I believe it is the greatest medicine on earth. I have advised others to try Vinol, and they have had the same results." (Name furnished on request.)

We want every one in this vicinity who is troubled with chronic colds, coughs, or pulmonary troubles, to come and get a bottle of Vinol.

If it does not go to the seat of trouble, heal the inflammation and stop the cough, we will cheerfully return every cent paid for it. This shows our faith, and proves that you take no chances.

The Wreck of the Titan

"This child has been shipwrecked," he said. "I have $10.50 to spend on it. Give it a bath, dress its hair, and use up the money on a dress, shoes and stockings, underclothing and a hat." The young woman stooped and kissed the little girl from sheer sympathy, but protested that not much could be done.

"Do your best," said Rowland. "It is all I have. I will wait here."

An hour later, penniless again, he emerged from the store with Myra, bravely dressed in her new finery, and was stopped at the corner by a policeman, who had seen him come out and who marveled doubtless at such juxtaposition of rags and ribbons.

"Whose kid you got?" he demanded.

"I believe it is the daughter of Mrs. Colonel Selfridge," answered Rowland haughtily—too haughtily by far.

"Ye believe, but ye don't know. Come back into the store, me tourist, an' we'll see who ye stole it from."

"Very well, officer; I can prove possession." They started back, the officer with his hand on Rowland's collar, and were met at the door by a party of three or four people coming out. One of this party, a young woman in black, uttered a piercing shriek and sprang toward them.

"Myra! she screamed. "Give me my baby! Give her to me!"

She snatched the child from Rowland's shoulder, hugged it, kissed it, cried and screamed over it; then, oblivious to the crowd that collected, faintly and in the arms of an indignant old gentleman.

"You scoundrel!" he exclaimed as he floundered his cane over Rowland's head with his free arm. "We've caught you. Officer, take that man to the station house. I will follow and make a charge in the name of my daughter."

"Then he stole the kid, did he?" asked the policeman.

"Most certainly," answered the old gentleman, as, with the assistance of the others, he supported the unconscious young mother to a carriage.

They all entered, little Myra screaming for Rowland from the arms of a female member of the party, and were driven off.

"C'mon w' me," uttered the officer, rapping his prisoner on the head with his club and jerking him off his feet.

Then, while an approving crowd applauded, the man who had fought and conquered a hungry polar bear was dragged through the streets like a sick animal by a New York policeman.

such is the "disturbing effect" of a civilized environment.

In New York city there are homes permeated by a moral atmosphere so pure, so elevated, so sensitive to the vibrations of human voice and misdeed, that their occupants are removed completely from all consideration of any but the spiritual welfare of poor humanity.

In these homes the news gathering, sensation mongering daily paper does not enter.

In the same city are dignified magistrates—members of clubs and societies—who spend into hours and often fail to arise in the morning in time to read the papers before the opening of court.

Also in New York are city editors, billions of stomach, tens of speech and inconsiderate of reporters' feelings and professional pride. Such editors, when a reporter has failed through no fault of his own in successfully interviewing a celebrity, will sometimes send him news, gathering in the police courts, where printable news is scarce.

On the morning following the arrest of John Rowland three reporters, sent by three such editors, attended a hall of justice presided over by one of the late rising magistrates mentioned above.

In the courtroom of this court, ragged, disheveled by his chubling and disheveled by his night in a cell, stood Rowland, with other unfortunate more or less guilty of offenses against society.

When his name was called he was hustled through a door, along a line of policemen—each of whom added to his own usefulness by giving him a shove—and into the dock, where, the stern faced and three looking magistrate glared at him. Seated in a corner of the courtroom were the old gentleman of the day before, the young mother with little Myra in her lap and a number of other ladies, all excited in demeanor and all but the young mother directing venomous glances at Rowland.

Mrs. Selfridge, pale and hollow eyed, but happy faced with allowed no wandering glance to rest on him.

The officer who had arrested Rowland was sworn and testified that he had stopped the prisoner on Broadway while making off with the child, whose rich clothing had attracted his attention. Disdainful sniffs were heard in the corner with muttered remarks:

"Rich indeed! The ideal of the finest prints!" Mr. Gaunt, the prosecuting witness, was called to testify about the incident.

"This man, your honor," he began excitedly, "was once a gentleman and a frequent guest at my house. He asked for the hand of my daughter and as his request was not granted threatened revenge. Yes, sir, and out on the broad Atlantic, where he had followed my daughter in the guise of a sailor, he attempted to murder that child, my grandchild, but was discovered."

"Wait," interrupted the magistrate. "Continue your testimony to the present offense."

"Yes, your honor. Falling in this, he stole or enticed the little one from his bed, and in less than five minutes the ship was wrecked, and he must have escaped with the child!"

"Were you a witness of this?"

"I was not there, your honor, but we have it on the word of the first officer, a gentleman!"

"Step down, sir. That will do. Officer, was this offense committed in New York?"

"Yes, your honor. I caught him myself."

"Who did he steal the child from?"

"That lady over yonder."

"Madam, will you take the stand?" With her child in her arms, Mrs. Selfridge was sworn and in a low, quivering voice repeated what her father had said. Being a woman, she was allowed by the womanly magistrate to tell her story in her own way.

When she spoke of the attempted murder at the taffrail her manner became excited. Then she told of the captain's promise to put the man in irons on her agreeing to testify against him; of the consequent decrease in her watchfulness and her missing the child just before the shipwreck; of her rescue by the gallant first officer and his assertion that he had seen her child in the arms of this man, the only man on earth who would harm it; of the later news that a boat containing sailors and children had been picked up by a Mediterranean steamer; of the detectives sent over and their report that a sailor answering this man's description had refused to surrender a child to the consul at Gibraltar and had disappeared with it; of her joy at the news that Myra was alive and despair of ever seeing her again until she had met her in this man's arms on Broadway the day before.

At this point in her narrative outraged maternity overcame her. With cheeks flushed and eyes blazing scorn and anger, she pointed at Rowland and all but screamed, "And he has mutilated, tortured my baby! There are deep wounds in his little back, and the doctor said only last night that they were made by a sharp instrument."

"And, Judge, this man must have tried to warp and twist the mind of my child, or put her through frightful experiences, for he has taught her to swear horribly, and last night at bedtime, when I told her the story of St. Nicholas and the bears and the children, she burst out into the most unbecomingly screaming and sobbing."

Here her testimony ended in a break-down of hysterics, between sobs of which were frequent admissions to the child not to say that bad word, for Myra had caught sight of Rowland and was calling his nickname.

"What shipwreck was this—where faced man in rag and said to the clerk of the court, "Change this charge to vagrancy, oh!"

"The clerk, instigated by the newspaper man, was at his elbow. He laid a morning paper before him, pointed to certain big letters and retorted, "Then the business of the court suspended while the court read the news. After a moment or two the magistrate looked up."

"Prisoner," he said sharply, "take your left sleeve out of your breast." Rowland obeyed mechanically, and it dangled at his side. The magistrate noticed and read on. Then he said:

"You are the man who was rescued from an iceberg, are you not?" The prisoner bowed his head.

"Discharged!" The word came forth in an unjudicial roar. "Madam," addressed the magistrate with a kindling light in his eye, "this man has merely saved your child's life. If you will read of his defending it from a polar bear when you go home, I doubt that you will tell it any more bear stories. Sharp instrument—umph!" Which was equally unjudicial on the part of the court.

Mrs. Selfridge, with a mystified and rather aggrieved expression of face, left the courtroom with her indignant father and friends, while Myra shouted profusely for Rowland, who had fallen into the hands of the reporters. They would have entertained him after the manner of the craft, but he would not be entertained, neither would he talk.

He escaped and was very apologetically enveloped up in the world without, and when the evening papers appeared that day the events of the trial were all that could be added to the story of the morning.

On the morning of the next day a one armed dock longer found an old fishhook and some pieces of string, which he knotted together; then he dug some bait and caught a fish. Being hungry and without fire, he traded with a confectioner's cook for a meal, and before night caught two more, one of which he traded, the other sold. He slept under the docks—paying no rent—flushed, traded and sold for a month; then paid for a secondhand suit of clothes and the services of a barber. His changed appearance induced a boss stewardess to hire him tallying cargo, which was more lucrative than fishing, and furnished in time a lint, pair of shoes and an overcoat. He then rented a room and slept in a bed. Before long he found employment addressing envelopes for a mailing firm, at which his time and rapid penmanship secured him steady work, and in a few months he asked his employers to endorse his application for a civil service examination. The favor was granted, the examination easily passed, and he addressed envelopes while he waited.

Meanwhile Rowland purchased new and better clothing and seemed to have no difficulty in impressing those whom he met with the fact that he was a gentleman. Two years from the time of his examination he was appointed to a lucrative position under the government and as he seated himself at the desk in his office could have been heard to remark: "Now, John Rowland, your future is your own. You have merely suffered in the past from a mistaken estimate of the importance of women and whisky."

But he was wrong, for in six months "Safe With Him."

"I'm going to tell you a great secret." "Yes?" "And I wouldn't have you tell anybody I told you for all the world." "You can trust me. I never told a secret yet. I've got such a poor memory that I never remember who told me, nor what it was."

he received a letter which in part read as follows:

Do not think me indifferent or ungrateful. I have watched from a distance while you made your wonderful fight for your old standards. You have won, and I am glad, and I congratulate you. But Myra will not let me rest. She asks for you continually and cries at times. I can bear it no longer. Will you not come and see Myra?

And the man went to see—Myra.

THE END.

Woman's Beauty in History.

We all know that beauty in woman holds a unique, preponderant and romantic place in the world's history; that it has plunged nations into war; that it has altered the map of the world; has given us some of the greatest masterpieces in every art, and that it is as changeable as the weather, as uncertain as the weather.

As a Substitute.

Modesty was only made for those who have no beauty.—Exchange.

Animals' Ability to Learn.

Animals which have never met with an electric current become sensitive to it in a marked degree, thereby disproving the theory that animals possess only traits that are due to natural selection by a long process of the "survival of the fittest." This sensitive-ness is called "galvanotropism," and is rather a body blow to Darwin's theory.

Ravages of Tuberculosis.

Worn a war in the United States to take off every year 150,000 persons would be horrified beyond measure. Yet this is the estimate of the American losses from tuberculosis.—Review of Reviews.

Woman's Beauty in History.

We all know that beauty in woman holds a unique, preponderant and romantic place in the world's history; that it has plunged nations into war; that it has altered the map of the world; has given us some of the greatest masterpieces in every art, and that it is as changeable as the weather, as uncertain as the weather.

As a Substitute.

Modesty was only made for those who have no beauty.—Exchange.

Animals' Ability to Learn.

Animals which have never met with an electric current become sensitive to it in a marked degree, thereby disproving the theory that animals possess only traits that are due to natural selection by a long process of the "survival of the fittest." This sensitive-ness is called "galvanotropism," and is rather a body blow to Darwin's theory.

SPEAKS ON SUBJECT OF SOCIAL PURITY

COUNTRY WAKING UP TO NEED OF ORGANIZED OPPOSITION TO VICE.

REALIZATION GROWING

Former Pastor of United Brethren Church Addresses Local League on Subject of Vital Interest.

There has been a growing interest in the last few years on the part of the people in our country in the terrible growth of the "social evil." The political leaders, state boards of health, the clergy and other reformers have shown increasing alarm as the line of light has been thrown upon the moral conditions of the nation by a few leaders who have taken the pains to investigate them and by the wars waged on the social evil by the daily press in every direction.

Righteous indignation of people everywhere was raised to a white heat after the recent exposure of the White Slave traffic by the Hon. Clifford G. Boscawen, and the committee appointed in New York City. Mr. Boscawen was formerly the assistant state's attorney in Chicago and in a position to secure the most damaging evidence. After long study of the subject by an increasing number of workers it has been estimated that there are at present at least 300,000 fallen women and girls in houses of shame in this country alone.

Through the wires and telegraph of the people exposed in the time of the social evil, the moral conditions of the country, sixty thousand girls are dragged down to this life, one young life blighted every eight minutes.

After experience covering a number of years of investigation and study, during which he has helped to save many girls and boys from lives of shame, Rev. L. A. McIntyre, a former pastor of the U. B. church of this city, felt the time had arrived when there should be an organized effort put forth on the part of the church of Jesus Christ in helping the people to see the conditions of immorality as they really exist in all of their appalling aspects.

While yet a pastor in Janesville he brought his plans to a head and organized "The Clean Life League of America," the object of which is to encourage the development of strong healthy bodies; organize physical culture classes where advisable, and to promote the cause of social purity in the nation by an educational propaganda which shall instruct our young people in the laws of sex life and functions through literature and lectures upon the subject.

He urges all who are interested in the cause of social purity and the development of strong healthy bodies to join the league, which has no dues or membership fees. He makes his headquarters at 700 Oakland Ave., Milwaukee, where applications for membership will be received and names enrolled.

At a meeting held under the auspices of the league of the United Brethren church last evening, Rev. McIntyre delivered a strong and convincing address, taking as his subject "The Clean Life." In part he spoke as follows:

"There are two great evils that have existed for many years in society to which the attention of the people is being directed in a special manner—the sin of neglect and abuse of the body and the sin known as the social evil of today.

The time has now arrived when you as a nation must arouse yourselves and correct these evils or we will soon become a weak nation both physically and morally. The national board of health report that there are 630,000 unnecessary deaths every year and 1,500,000 constantly unnecessary sick in our land.

"I want tonight to call your attention to the body as the 'Temple of God'—its structure, its use and its abuse. The body is the most wonderful creation in the whole realm of animal life, the bible says in 1 Cor. 3: 16-17, 'Do you not know that you are God's temple and that God's spirit has his home in you. If anyone destroys (or maims) the temple of God, he will be destroyed for the temple of God is sacred and so are you.'

"Again 1 Cor. 6: 18-19 says, 'An immoral man sins against his own body. Do you not know that the body is a temple of the Holy Spirit that is within you, moreover you are not your own masters, you were bought and the price was paid, therefore honor God in your bodies.'

"1 Cor. 10: 31 says 'Whether then you eat or drink or whatever you do, do everything to the honor of God.' 'I therefore make a plea for a clean body, because of its importance. First because they are not our own, to do with as we please. Second, because they are to be kept pure and clean for service to the 'King.' Third, because they are the ordinary avenue through which the tempter leads us to sin and destruction.

"It is through the medium of the eye, ear, physical appetites and passions that the soul of man is dragged down into the mire of sin, and I think we have paid too little attention in the past to these truths.

"Now there is no question but that the ordinary man or woman in the church as well as out of it, neglects and maims this temple of God. First, by actual transgression of the laws that govern the body in our eating and drinking, etc., Thomas Edison says 'We are a food drunk nation.'

"Again in our manner of dress, we show the fact of foot binding as practiced by the Chinese, and pay but little attention to the fact that the women of America are doing a greater injury to the body by binding the vital organs of the same, causing misplacement and preventing them from performing the work of God intended them to do.

"We are just beginning to learn the cause of the French heels on our shoes and the use of pumps, rats and curls on the head for the doctors are sending out a note of warning against these evils.

"The other great evil to which I direct your attention is the moral leprosy in the nation. This is one of the oldest and hardest to fight of all known sins. None received greater denunciation from God, and for the overthrow of no sin has more severe penalties attached in the laws of God to Israel. The punishment for this sin was death and only by such rigid laws was the nation preserved.

"Today we have become less strict until Holy marriage vows are daily broken, homes destroyed, divorces granted for trivial causes, open and licensed vice winked at and laws disregarded until girls and women are bought and sold into a life of shame, as were the negroes into slavery before the civil war.

"It is reported on good authority that there are 600,000 public prostitutes in the United States, that there are 60,000 girls ruined every year, that at least 15,000 girls are imported into this country annually to be sold into shame, and that the average paying price is only $15.00, think of it! Less than the price of a good dog, and that the selling price is from $200 to $500, less than the cost of a cheap automobile. It is reported that $20,000,000 are made in Chicago alone every year through the traffic in girls and women.

"I have not the time to go into details, but look at the results that stare us in the face. Ruined lives and homes, spread of disease, for the disease carried by this life cause 1-7 of the suffering of the human race and in the cities a much larger percentage. The public institutions for the maintenance of the insane, blind and dependent of all classes are overcrowded on account of this vice. The church is daily being weakened in her membership and influence because of this sin, and she must arouse and take a more active interest in the overthrow of the White Slave trade and other vices of the land or God will declare as He did to one of old 'That you are weighed in the balances and found wanting.'

"I appeal to you tonight to enroll in the membership of the Clean Life League and help drive both of these evils from our midst. Let us declare for a stronger, healthier and cleaner body and the overthrow of the Social Evil in the nation. First by informing ourselves through the literature and lecture courses of the league. Second by trying to help wage a warfare such as shall eventually arouse public opinion which as some one has said is 'only less mighty than omnipotence,' and which shall at least result, by the help of God, our fair land from these sins which if not overthrown will sink our nation into perdition."

At the conclusion of the address about forty enrolled as members of the league and much interest was manifested in the work and plans of the organization.

"Curious on the back, I must get this letter off to Mirabella, and there is my hated rival sitting on the letter box!"

To Keep From Losing Breath.

Where respiration is rhythmical there is no loss of breath in walking fast, running, uphill or going upstairs. The method of preventing breathlessness consists in maintaining the rhythm and the speed of respiration. When the breathing is rhythmic the breathing keeps pace with the step. The outbreathing must be twice the length of the inbreathing and not more than eighteen or twenty complete breath circuits must be made per minute.—Harper's Weekly.

Why He Remained at Home.

"So you don't care for society?" "I shouldn't say that," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I haven't any objection to society. But I don't like chicken salad and tea cream."
